Description

UMAMAHESHWARAM is a famous Lord Shiva Parvatitemple in South India. The name comes from both the namesUmadevi (Parvati) And Maheshwar (Shiva) together - Umamaheshwaram! The Shivalingam consists of 2 colours, the Redand White represents the divine coupl e. It is located in theNallamalla Forest around 100 km from Hyderabadon the Hyderabad -Srisailam high way and 4kmfromthevillageof Rangapur, Achampet, Nagarkurnool district.

Umamaheshwaram temple construction dates back to2nd century AD and it was belie ved to have been built duringthe reign of Maurya Chandragupta. The development was donein the period of Kakatiya Dynasty and Maha Shivaratri iscelebrated with great splendor here.

The importance of this temple is mentioned in Puranasand Epics. The waters in the hills and woods look very beautifuland it is very cool even in summer. Uma maheshwaram Templeis also known as Kubera Sthanam.There are other Temples hereof Lord Ganesha, Lord Veerabhadra Swamy, Lord JanardhanaSwamy and also that of Lord Naga raju.Here, Lord Shiva and MaParvati are also called as Mallikarjuna (Shiva) andBhramaramba (Devi).

Umamaheswaram, a temple perched in the cliffs ofNallamala, a northern gate way to Srisailam over looking thevast Deccan plateau. It is a halt and entry t o Nallamala onancient pilgrim trail to Lord Mallikarjuna, deep in the hills. SriGiri or Sri Parvati known as SriSailam (Sri’s Mountain)which ismentioned in Markandeya Purana (LVII.15), Kumara Purana(30.45-8) andAgni Purina (109).The Padma Purana notes that on the summitof this auspicious and beautiful mountain resides godMallikarjuna, who is identified as one of the twelve Jyotirlinga'sof India, the holy center of Shaivism.

The devotees come here for every Shivaratri and for theRanga Puram Jaratara. Even newly married couple are expectedto visit this temple and have blessings of Uma maheshwarSwamy for a peaceful and fruitful married life as the form of godhere is Half Lord Shiva himself and the other half is Ma Parvatidevi, which signifies the importance of each other and balanceof relationship.

There are many other astonishing thing which we canwitness here, like the cave passage to Srisailam from hereand never-ending holy water.

History Of Umamaheshwaram

Uma Maheshwaram is a famous Lord Shivaparvati templeof South India located at Nagarkurnool, Telangana. This placeattracts not only the locals or the people from a 100 kmdistance but we can see people from all over India visiting herebefore visiting the Srisailam Temple.

The history of this temple dates back to 2nd century ADand was built during the reign of Maurya Chandragupta. And asper Uma maheshwar inscription, the Kakatiya's queen RudramaDevi's accountant Ramayyangar of treasury -built number oftemples and Mathas for Saiva devotees. His wife Malasani alsoinvolved in thispious work. They developed UmamaheshwaramTemple even more for the sake of devotees.. "Kakatiyas are the one who built the temple structure to this hi ll in 12th century"saidthe Priest of this temple. In the present date, governmenttook the responsibility of development of this place. Accordingto Skanda Purana, the reason behind the natural appearance ofthe Shivalingam is due to the Tapas(meditation) of Parvati deviherself for lord Shiva to appear and marry her! And this tookplace exactly here many centuries ago. According to theinscriptions preserved in the temple the history of the placestarts from the Kakatiya period and its references at otherplaces are traceable to the later Chalukya period, from Trailokyamalla Somesvarai I(A.D. 1042 - 68). The Recherla kingMadanayaka(1421 AD -1430AD) constructed for thebenefit ofpilgrims a paved footpath with steps from this place up toJatararevu covering nearly 50 km up to river Krishna. Aftercrossing riverat this ferry point known as Jatararevu they haveto climb up the Chukkala -parvatam and walk about 4 km toreach Srisailam.

The most celebrated occasions in Umamaheshwaram aremainly three ! Toli Ekadashi, Shivaratri and Sankranti. Many kindsof yagnas and Vratas are held during these festival events. Themost famous"Umamaheshwara Vratam" is held by a large group ofpeople together, there are nearly 500 to 700 people whocollectively perform this Vratam.All these Yagnas and Vratas takeplace during the time of Toli Ekadashi. During the time ofShivaratri, we can see many devotees come here to have thedarshan of lord Shiva. People from farplaces like such asMaharashtra and Karnataka come by f oot and after having theDarshan at Uma maheshwaram,they again walk to Srisailam! This ishow strongly the people follow their religious believes and many ofthem saw the profit for following these! In the month of January atthe time of Sankranti we can w itness many Fests and Homas goingon in here. The endowment officer of Uma maheshwaram said thatthey always make sure that these events goes smoothly withoutany issues and arrange required security during the time of largegatherings like this. The best times to visit Uma maheshwaram isdefiantly during these events as one can witness the beauty of thistemple.The temple authority has been continuing the almsgiving(annadaanam) as a service here. As per the Volunteer there, nearlya 500 to 1500 people eat daily and the monthly expenditure onlyfor the food is roughly 8lakhs to 10lakhs. All this amount is notonly allotted by the Government ,but the devotees too contributefor the services provide here!

This place also generates employment or the poor to work, asvendors. They sell many pooja items, toys for kids and clothitems too and the religiou s events give the magood time fortheir business. This is a well know oldest cave way from Umamaheshwaram to Srisailam . People in the past used to followthis path to go to Srisailam. But, as roads and transport haddeveloped, people started to travel in modern ways.Soon aftersome years, due to abandoning this path, bounders fell midway blocking the passage to reach Srisailam.

Priests here say that there's another true powerfulShivalingam present under the hill at the height of 500m. Notonly regular devotees come here, but also many Sadhus,Rushies, Munis come here to have the darshan of Lord Shiva andsome of them are seen rarely in the deep hill forest meditatingfor along period of time. The hill resembles crescent -moonshape, same as the moon deity who rests on the head of lordShiva.

The other reason why Umamaheswaram is popular for itsmysterious papanasanam, a sm all stream that flows beneath themountain rocks (from the vast maze of roots join flows in rockstrata and form springs that emerge at cliffs).The specialty ofPapanasanam is that, the stream flows into a small pit and at anygiven time, you can scoop out a mug of water and the momentyou take some water out, it refills itself within secondsThe beliefis, sprinkling this water over you will wash awayyour sins and also some traditional folk collect it for theirmedicinal practice. The continuous flow of wa ter fromthehillocks that falls on this beautiful temple, gives an impress as ifGoddess Ganga is bestowing her purity here.

Architecture

The architecture of the Umamaheshwaram Temple is aunique with a blend of natural hill area and Temple s tructure. Itlooks like As if the temple was instructed into the wall of hill.Garba gudi (centralarea), the walls inside and the pillars are fullof carvings sculptures and show cases the scenes of Hindumythology and they depicts mesmerizing skills of th e craftsmenwho worked during the construction of the temple. If you lookat these carvings and the sculptures, we can notice that theytalk about the Shaivism (Shiva tatvam). The UmamaheshwaraTemple has a corridor area, the temple, hall forPooja andyagnas,Alms giving area and the great Papanasam.The idol is anactually formed one with two different colours depicting LordShiva and Ma Parvati.

Pillars:

There are 4 pillars on the entrance of the Temple which lookslikethey are holding the Outer part of roof and there are 10 pillarsin- side the temple. These pillars hold amazing carvings thatshows Garuda, Nandi and other Deities

Nandi:

In the entrance itself, rests a stone statue of Nandi (LordShiva Vahanam) facing the shivalingam. Nandi symbolizes theperfect, undistracted devotee. His eyes and his mind arealways on Shiva. Everyone believes that we must see theshivalingam from the gap between Nandi's horns! As if weare taking his permission to mee t Lord Shiva ! According toVedas and Puranas, the reason behind Nandi sitting in frontof lord Shiva is…. "Lord Shiva lovesto spend time in meditation(Dhyanam). But,his burning throatis not allowing him to do his meditation. Then He orderedNandi to sit in front of him and blow some air on to his throat.

The air blown on to his throat relieves him from the burningsensation. From then Onwards, Lord Shiva does his mediationwith the help of Nandi".

Mandapam:

To the left of main temple, there's a Mandapam where allthe Yagnas and Homas are held and is maintained with care.Temple authority and people arrange many events here.
